

Fit For Your Home

The right piece of furniture gives your abode a personal touch, plus a distinctive character.

Specializing in rugs and seating furniture for interior and exterior environments, Paola Lenti presents collections of furniture that are unique for their appearance and functionality, because the creative and production processes from which they originate are unique.

The Italian label chooses the highest quality yarns in each of its designs. For the traditional fabrics, this signifies targeting the best manufacturers in the world; for the new high-tech yarns, experimentation is crucial and often may be realized in sectors very diverse from interior design.

Not only is material quality important for a furnishing design, appearance is also a critical element in choosing the right piece for your home. Paola Lenti creates its own color and high-quality yarns and fabrics are always dyed exclusively in these colors for the company. Verde erba is the color for this season and is included among the most significant new product launches for exterior environments in the 2010 collection.

The strength of the new collection is represented by the evolution of the outdoor concept which is extended and varied to make the open space more pleasant and comfortable.

Joy Collection

Modular living system

The 2010 Himba baskets collection, inspired by the African tradition, is woven by hand with rope braids and is available in several shapes and dimensions.

To those who are more flexible, Mellow is undoubtedly your cup of tea. Designed by Francesco Rota, the modular sofa for exterior environments has been designed with maximum regard to ease of use, cleaning and, ultimately, disposal. Each of the sofa components can be easily separated because they are neither glued together nor permanently connected. The cushions with removable covers can be removed and stored, leaving only the structure outside when the sofa is not in use for a relatively long period of time.

Disposing of furniture can always get on your nerves. But the homogeneity of the materials Paola Lenti uses to produce each single component of Mellow simplifies any eventual disposal procedures. The frame is made of cataphoresis treated and white varnished steel. Cushions are in cold injected polyurethane foam treated to be water repellent.

Dedicated to the world of children, the Joy collection is a reinterpretation of various Paola Lenti products. The collection reproduces some of the classic pieces of the Home and Aqua collection but softer and reduced in size. Sofa Atollo, lounge chair Float, and poufs Cubo and Picots, become not only ideal spaces for kids but also playful and colored toys.

All seating has removable covers and upholstery is available in several practical and easy to maintain fabrics and colors. All pieces of the Joy collection can be coordinated with Paola Lenti rugs, which can be produced in custom sizes, to offer coherent and refined interior design possibilities that are still playful.
